 1884	Andrew and Augusta Beckstrom Cabin	This cabin housed Andrew and Augusta Beckstrom and their 16 children. Their 3rd child, John, was born in the cabin, and is the first recorded birth in Bothell. Andrew Beckstrom was born in Sweden in 1852 and immigrated in 1869 bringing his wife, Augusta. They were one of the first families on the river, arriving in 1883. While forging a life in the wilderness, the Beckstroms were very much a part of shaping Bothell, being actively involved with the school board, the Swedish Lutheran Church, the Masons and Eastern Star. Placed on Washington Heritage Register and City of Bothell's Local Register of Historic Landmarks in 1994.
 Ca. 1919	Bates-Tanner Farm	Location: Park at Bothell Landing, NE 180th Street. http://www.bothellmuseum.homestead.com/home.html The Bates-Tanner farm, purchased by Ray Bates and John Tanner from G. C. and Frances F. Hubbell in 1919, was originally a small (10-acre) poultry farm. Placed on the National Register of Historic Places and Washington State Heritage Register in 1995.
 1885	Bothell's First Schoolhouse	Location: 3420 240th Street SE. This house is a private residence. While the schoolhouse itself was built in 1885, weather delayed the opening and it wasn't until March of 1886 that the doors opened to teach the children. Miss Helen DeVoe, originally from New York state, was the first school teacher for Bothell; some of her first students were William Keener, Albert Bothell, Annie Beckstrom, and George Brackett. Placed on Washington Heritage Register and City of Bothell's Local Register of Historic Landmarks in 1994. Location: Park at Bothell Landing, NE 180th Street. http://www.bothellmuseum.homestead.com/home.html

	1913	Bothell-Lake Forest Park Brick Highway	This .2 mile stretch is all that remains of the old Bothell Lake Forest Highway (known today as Bothell Way or SR 522). It is a treasured piece of history that once served as Bothell's lifeline toward the Ports of Seattle and Everett, and then in turn, to the rest of the world. The four mile, two-lane highway was finished in 1913. It replaced the wagon road that was cut through the forest as a result of early logging activities along the Sammamish Slough. Imagine the hard labor endured by the immigrant Greek and Italian craftsman who laid each brick by hand. By 1934, the handmade brick highway became outdated and a four lane asphalt pavement was laid over the top of the bricks by machine. Today, the City of Bothell has preserved this original artifact to celebrate a bit of Bothell's rich heritage. Placed on the Washington State Heritage Register and City of Bothell's Local Register of Historic Landmarks. Location: NE Bothell Way and 96th Avenue NE The Burrows House was built in 1912 by Daniel F. Hall who was on the Bothell Town Council from 1926-1929. In 1921, Mr. Hall and his wife sold the house and property to Augustus P. Burrows and his wife Evelyn (Severence). They owned the house for 37 years. Augustus P. Burrows is a significant figure in Bothell's history. He published the Bothell Independent newspaper (1903-1904) and later the Bothell Citizen newspaper (1933-1935). In addition, he ran a publishing business in Bothell for decades and was a member of the Bothell Town Council (1928 and 1929) and several community organizations. Placed on City of Bothell's Local Register of Historic Landmarks in 2006. Location: 17505 Eason Avenue

 Ca. 1895	Dr. Reuben Chase House	This small house located on the University of Washington/Cascadia Community College campus was originally occupied by Reuben Chase, Bothell's first doctor. Dr. Chase was a Civil War veteran at the young age of 15. After returning from war, he began studying medicine attending the Eclectic Medical College. During his schooling, he paid for his educational expenses by selling remedies and flavoring extracts from a peddlers wagon. Dr. Chase and his family arrived in Bothell in 1889. A typical charge for a house call and medicine was about $1.50, but Dr. Chase often accepted produce or meat in lieu of cash. Dr. Reuben even built a fruit drier and smokehouse for his surplus 'pay'. Placed on the National Register of Historic Places and Washington State Heritage Register in 1990. Location: University of Washington/Cascadia Community College Campus.
 1923	Faust-Ryan House	The Faust-Ryan house was built in 1923 by well-known Bothell builder Alfred John Sundholm for Lloyd and Mabel Faust. Lloyd Faust was manager of a stock brokerage firm in Seattle. The house had a number of owners after the Fausts sold in 1924, but is most remembered as the home of Joe Ryan, Bothell's notorious mayor who was elected in 1944 but was recalled before he could serve his term. From 1957 to 1970, the house was owned by Marshall and Nancy Paris, who kept records of the changes made to the property over the years. The current owners have completely restored this historic house and grounds. Placed on the National Register of Historic Places and Washington State Heritage Register in 1994. Location: 18604 104th Avenue NE. This house is a private residence.

 Ca. 1902	J. Skirving House	The American Four-square style house was built for James Skirving who was a Bothell businessman and farmer. Skirving owned a feed mill in Bothell and hay fields in Eastern Washington. Placed on Washington Heritage Register and City of Bothell's Local Register of Historic Landmarks in 1995. Location: 10425 E Riverside Drive. This house is a private residence.
 1923	Lilly Kirk House	The house and garage were built in 1923 by Lilly Mortenson Kirk's brother, W. C. "Bill" Mortenson, a builder from Seattle and later Bothell. Mr. Kirk was a salesman for Grossman Brothers Produce Company in Seattle. Mr. Kirk and his wife purchased the property in 1914 from Mrs. Clara Ellis Gardner, widow of a prominent Bothell citizen, Dr. Penbroke Seward Gardner. Placed on the National Register of Historic Places and Washington State Heritage Register in 1995. Location: 19619 100th Avenue NE. This house is a private residence.
 1898	Dr. Elmer E. Lytle House	The home of Bothell's second doctor originally stood at the northwest corner of 102nd Avenue NE and Main Street and was moved to Bothell Landing in the Early 1970's. Dr. Lytle was originally from Ohio and practiced medicine in Everett and Edmonds before coming to Bothell. He was partnered with D.J. Cain in the grocery and mill business until the Mill burned in 1911 and then committed his hours completely to his medical practice. The Lytles also owned one of the first "horseless carriages" in Bothell, a "Fliver", driving to the Alaska Yukon Pacific Exposition in 1909 (the location of the University of Washington campus today). Placed on City of Bothell's Local Register of Historic Landmarks in 1994. Location: Park at Bothell Landing, NE 180th Street. http://www.bothellmuseum.homestead.com/home.html

 Ca. 1885	North Creek Schoolhouse	At the turn of the century, this schoolhouse was considered north of Bothell and had only a few children in attendance. The first teacher on record at this school was Edgar Turner and then for a time Charles Beardslee, who was said to have let his students go fishing at recess. Placed on the National Register of Historic Places and Washington State Heritage Register in 1995. Location: Northwest corner of 228th Street SE and 31st Avenue SE. This building is on private property.
 1889	Bothell Pioneer Cemetery	This late 19th century cemetery contains the remains of early settlers/pioneers/workers in Bothell including those from the logging and timber industry. George R. Wilson, one of Bothell's first settlers (arriving in 1870), is buried in this cemetery. His grave is marked by a large stone obelisk. Placed on the National Register of Historic Places, Washington State Heritage Register and City of Bothell's Local Register of Historic Landmarks in 1995. Location: 180th Avenue NE and Valley View Street.
 1922	Sorenson House	The home was built in 1922 by Mr. James "Jim" Sorenson on a gift of land from his father-in-law, Alfred Pearson. James and Mary (Pearson) Sorenson were married in the second recorded ceremony in Bothell. Mr. Sorenson began his partnership with William Schrotke in a woodworking, cabinet-making and contracting business in 1910 (the year he married Mary Pearson). He became a well-respected builder of many Craftsman style homes in Bothell. Placed on the National Register of Historic Places and Washington State Heritage Register in 1995. Location: 10011 W Riverside Drive. This house is privately owned.
